

South Sudanese Enrichment for Families invites you to

RESILIENCE

2021

A Celebration of the South Sudanese
21 Years in America!

Thursday, April 22, 2021 7-8pm

Register for this Free Zoom Event
SSEFboston.org/resilience-registration

Bid at the Silent Auction from April 9th 9am to April 26 9pm
SSEFboston.org/resilience-silent-auction

The African proverb "It takes a village to raise a child" is a universal truth.

Join us to celebrate and to contribute to the ongoing work to build and support the next generation - the children of the "Lost Boys and Girls of Sudan."

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

ELLEN BARRY

New England Bureau Chief of the New York Times, Pulitzer Prize Finalist for the series on the "Lost Boys," and a Site Journalist in South Sudan and Kakuma Refugee Camp

SSEF SPEAKERS

YAR AYUEL

Yar is a "Lost Girl" who came here 20 years ago. She currently is getting her MBA and lives with her children and husband in Holden, MA.

MAJUR ANYIETH

Majur is a "Lost Boy" who has been here for 20 years. He is currently unemployed from the Omni Hotel where he worked for 19 years. He lives with his wife and children in Malden, MA.

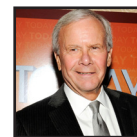

HONOREE

MELISSA M. MACDONNELL

President of Liberty Mutual Foundation and Vice President of Liberty Mutual Insurance, Melissa has served as a tutor to South Sudanese women through SSEF for more than a decade.

VIDEO MESSAGE

TOM BROKAW

Special Correspondent for NBC News, Best Selling Author and once Host of all Three Major NBC News programs: The Today Show, NBC Nightly News, and Meet the Press, National Press Club Award winner for his reporting in the documentary "The Lost Boys"